SNOW AND ICE

combine to make roads hazardous for traveling to their homes for Christmas vacation. Accidents like the one shown above can be prevented by using caution on the highways.

on Urged . . .

Big Exodus Begins—Safely?

an 15,000 of the 23,959 units will have to travel to their homes for the will be traveling by train, bus and even plane, but most students traveling by private car should have a Utah state safety inspection and should still be in the

It needed to be to pass state sure your windshield is the State Motor Vehicle no person shall drive with any sign, poster non-transparent material (ice and fog), except fully required, such as sticker, parking permit, and military stickers, etc.

which must be displayed in the prescribed manner, this applies to all windows—including side-wings, doors, etc.

—Ice on windshields can be dangerous. Take, for example, the case of the Provo girl who turned her car into a telephone pole and later explained to the judge that she didn't see it. Or the boy who wiped out a street sign for the same reason. The fine for obstructed vision, incidentally, is $7.50.

CLEAN THEM

If your windows fog up after you clean them, you're still subject to the rule.

Provo's City Police have increased the frequency of their roadblocks because of a growing habit of area motorists not to clear their windshields. "A word to the wise . . ." The officers also cite for other things, many of which have already been mentioned.

They will hold at random as many as 15 vehicle checks in a week, and issue as many as 80 citations in a single check. Many of these have been early Christmas presents for BYU students in the past.

And be careful driving home. Many small communities resent non-residents bawling through without paying proper respect to their speeding laws. Fines run from $5 to $50, depending on who you offend and how fast you do it.

WATCH ICE

Be especially careful on icy spots. Remember the rules for driving on ice. Above all, watch the brakes and if you skid, steer into the skid rather than away, avoiding your brake at all times. Care should also be taken when returning in January. Roads may still be icy, snow may still be falling and common sense rules for safe driving will still apply whether the weather is good or not.

So, whether you are going to San Francisco or Tampa, Washington or Phoenix, drive safely and use your head. Remember that safety is always on your side and let's see if we can't have 100 per cent of the student body make it home, and back, safely.

Y Students Favor Negro Recruitment

By Larry Winward
Staff Writer

A majority of students favor the recruitment of Negro athletes at BYU, according to a poll taken Tuesday.

When asked if they would favor the active recruitment of Negro athletes at BYU, 65 per cent of those students randomly selected answered "yes." Twenty-eight per cent said "no" and seven per cent had no opinion.

One-hundred and twenty-five students responded in the survey.

The poll was prompted by questions directed to the UNIVERSE concerning student feeling about BYU Negro recruitment.

OPEN END

The second question was purposely designed to be open-ended and allow students to give their reasons supporting their first answer. It was, "Why do you feel this way?"

The responses to the second question were as diverse as were the individuals answering.

Some of the replies falling into the "yes" category were:

"Yes, let's recruit them, except for the fact that their social life would be nil. Not too many white girls would want to date them."

"Yes—a really good idea; they're as good as whites."

"Yes—the reason they don't recruit them isn't valid; they just don't want Negroes to socialize with our girls; they are using one excuse to cover another."

"Why not? The Negro athletes are in many cases better than the ones we've got."

"Yes, BYU has an image of being prejudiced against the Negro; we should remove that image by proving that we aren't prejudiced."

"Yes, they recruit white, non-member athletes; why not recruit Negroes?"

An avid coed football fan enthusiastically replied: "Yes—it would make a much more exciting game because Negroes are much faster."

"Yes, I don't see why not, if they live up to the standards."

"Definitely—people here need to live closer with them to lessen bigotry."

"Yes, but we shouldn't give them any special considerations just because they are black."

"Yes, I feel The Church is for all races."

"Why not—I have nothing against them."

"Yes, there's a place at BYU for the Negro athlete. He is superior in many ways to us."

"Yes, I happen to think they are just as human and equal to us."

'NO' ANSWERS

Some of the "no" responses were:

"No, it would create too many problems once they were here."

"No, I'm not in favor of recruiting any athletes."

"No, I'm prejudiced."

"No, I don't know; no special reason."

"I think if they wanted to come to this school they would come."

"No, it would make the whole issue worse."

"No, I wouldn't like to see anything get started."

"No, The Church problem would become more apparent to them as Negroes and this would cause problems."

"No! If you are going to have Negro athletes you've got to have Negro girl friends. I have been at other schools and have seen the problems of integration—Negroes dating white girls and this is bound to happen."

Cabinet Accepts Change

The ASBYU Cabinet voted Wednesday to unanimously support the proposed fall semester alteration.

In a resolution released by the Academic's Office, the student executives "... strongly urged the administration, faculty and any other persons involved to implement as soon as possible the change of calendar recently approved by the Board of Trustees..."

The new semester program would allow the fall semester to end by Christmas vacation each year.

The Council's statement cited "... several important benefits accruing to students and faculty..." If the new program were implemented in the fall of 1969.

SANTA'S HELPERS

KUTV, Salt Lake City; Provo; KTVU, San Jose; KIRO, Seattle; KVI, Sacramento; Bakersfield; KRCR, WJAX, Miami; KLVX, KTLA, Hollywood; KJZZ, Reno; KVVU, KID, Idaho Falls.

An Apple For Yule

Students who manage to wander by the Wilkinson Center Reception Area between 10 a.m. and noon today will get Christmas "goodies" from the Center's staff.

Staff members will be handing out free apples to all who pass by, because this is the way they "would like to wish the students Merry Christmas."

Honest Discussion Of BYU-Negro Athlete Recruitment Essential

This editorial, being the fourth and final of a series which began several weeks ago, is the culmination of some lengthy and provocative interviews and study. Some prominent and respected BYU professors and administrators were interviewed in hopes of discovering attitudes and trends in Negro-BYU relations. The results of this study will be presented, as well as some specific recommendations.

HUSH HUSH

Hovering over this whole issue is a cloud of confusion, caused—at least partially—by those who have made statements of BYU's policy after the boycott of the San Jose State-BYU football game. No statement came and therefore rumors prevail at BYU as well as at San Jose.

The only comment was through the singular efforts of a concerned instructor on the sportsmanship committee of the athletic council. This statement was applauded by many.

It's a touchy subject, as one administrator commented. But the matter isn't untouchable. Students need to know what BYU's recruiting policies and practices are. Also, students should have an opportunity to freely discuss the subject of Negroes and BYU.

Another matter somewhat related is the fact that several BYU instructors were hesitant to be quoted when commenting on the recruitment of Negro athletes. Some of these possessed very strong beliefs advocating the recruitment of Negro athletes. One respected instructor commented, "Sure BYU has got to recruit Negroes... but don't quote me on that."

If BYU's leaders are truly concerned with our image, then more candor and frankness should exist. One of the main concepts exposed by the public relations instructors of BYU's Communications Dept. is that "frankness and honesty will pay off in the long run."

DISCRIMINATION AT BYU?

While BYU accepts any student who qualifies, according to Ariel Ballif, foreign student adviser, only six to eight American Negroes have ever attended BYU. Of these, four have graduated. As many as seven Negroes from other countries, however, have been attending at one time, Ballif added.

When asked if BYU students in general discriminate against Negroes, Wilford Smith of the Sociology Dept. responded, "yes."

Another sociology instructor told how he overheard some sociology students talking about the proposed Negro boycott. One student said: "Oh, those d—niggers ought to all be sent back to Africa." He was met with no vocal objections from the group.

Dr. Daniel Ludlow, dean of the College of Religion, believes that a good deal of discrimination exists at BYU, but that it stems from ignorance. "Many students have probably never met a Negro nor lived near one."

NO RECRUITING POLICY

BYU coaches go to great lengths to attract standouts to their teams. Because of the lack of any definite recruiting policy concerning Negroes, the individual coaches have apparently set their own policies.

Coaches from at least two teams do not actively recruit Negro athletes. If a Negro athlete wants to enter BYU, he must seek out the coach—not the coach look for him as is the case with white athletes.

And in addition, several teams require a Negro to first try out for the team for a year, and if he makes the team he will receive a grant-in-aid.

The reason given by these coaches for not seeking out Negro athletes is that Negroes in general have a difficult time fitting in socially, and adjusting to BYU's atmosphere. However, the number of Negro athletes who have come and not adjusted socially at BYU is only three or four.

Some of our foreign athletes report that they never fully adjust to life at BYU, but many qualified athletes from other countries are given a chance to participate.

The main question arising from this is, how many Negro athletes have been given the chance to fit in socially at BYU?

"What's going to happen when Negro athletes come to BYU and can date only white girls? And what will happen when a good Mormon girl becomes engaged to a Negro and marries him? What will members of the church say? Isn't BYU a place for LDS students to meet and marry?" These questions were raised by several coaches and instructors.

In response to these questions, a BYU instructor, respected in church as well as academic circles, replied that "We must be willing to take that chance [of inter-marriage] because by having Negroes on our teams it will lessen feelings of prejudice on campus as well as elsewhere. And I don't believe that people who hold prejudice towards people and other minority groups will attain the Celestial Kingdom."

Because of the lack of any concrete recruiting policy, rumors commonly float around campus about an outstanding Negro athlete, who was a Mormon, and how he was refused a grant-in-aid; about the coach who had to agree not to recruit Negroes before he would be hired; and about coaches who have told students that they just can't recruit Negroes.

The fact is that while some coaches and administrators emphasize the stories of how Negro athletes have been brought to BYU and how the athletes themselves decided they wouldn't fit in, these instances are a rarity. Coaches make little effort to recruit Negro athletes.

FUTURE BOYCOTTS?

Several coaches expressed the fear of more boycotts aimed against BYU, but hoped that if BYU recruiting policy changes, it will not do so now, because if this occurs, it will appear as if BYU were pressured into changing policy.

Another point to consider is how representative BYU's athletic teams are of the student body. Dr. Ludlow mentioned that when some of the teams have as high as 50 per cent non-LDS athletes, then such team will not be truly representative of BYU.

"BYU would be better for our students if more non-LDS students attended," Dr. Ludlow added. "However, our surveys show that only about 50 per cent of non-LDS students ever join The Church, and a very small percentage of those who attended BYU because of an athletic grant-in-aid or low tuition rates ever join."

If the purpose of our athletic team is to win, then let's recruit them (Negroes), but if the purpose is to be representative of BYU as well as win, then let's take another look at ourselves," Dr. Ludlow asserted.

RECOMMENDATIONS

If BYU is truly concerned about its athletic future as well as its stature among other universities, specific action must be taken.

(1) A uniform recruiting policy should be formulated and be readily available to the student body.

(2) The veil of secrecy covering this issue should be lifted; frank, honest and candid discussion should be open to all. No one should be afraid to voice his opinions.

(3) A thorough study should be taken examining the whole question of BYU-Negro relations.

Some other possible suggestions offered by students as well as instructors include: offering a "free university" class in race relations; purposely obtaining more Negro entertainers and speakers; declaring a civil rights week at BYU; and placing a plaque in the rooms of athletes of visiting teams, which would welcome them here and in brief tell them we are not prejudiced—whatever their race or nationality.

The UNIVERSE believes that to follow through with these recommendations will create a more mature attitude, and will aid others to better understand BYU's approach toward the situation.

Provo Town

by Pierre Hathaway

"I don't care if your name is Claus, get those reindeer off of our roof."

In light of the foregoing statement, prepare for a happy holiday driving safely. Try not to get upset with the other "so and so's" behind the wheel. His name may be Claus.

The DAILY UNIVERSE is engaged in a campaign to promote safe return of the campus gentry. It is our desire that everyone go back.

Enough of that stuff. The lucky few who will remain for the winter will be met with the best in activities. Friday there will be a rock dance in the Wilkinson Center Ballroom. Susan Tanner probably will approve of the style, but the swingers of the campus can rock to the sounds of "The SwifHeat" for only 25 cents.

PUNCH ROCKS OUT

Saturday more of the same awaits. The punchy reverberations of Hemlock Punch will permeate the Ballroom for the meager fee of 25 cents.

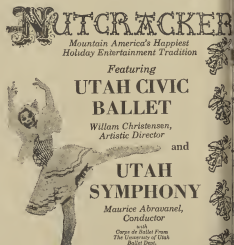

The Christmas spirit at BYU will continue through the vacation. Evidence the two free movies, "Fantastic Voyage" screens Dec. 20, the Ballroom. "Flight of the Phoenix" is on the docket for Dec. 21. The price is right, so sock it to 'em.

The festive party season is in full swing and you are at BYU. You would decree its time, some will say, but fear not—the horizon is bright. The Wilkinson Center Skyroom is the scene of the New Year's dinner dance. The Alan Johnson Quintet will provide sounds to the New Year. Tickets are $5 per couple. It's cheap. Take it up to you can.

"Rite Breed" is the current flick in the Varsity Theater. Next "The Giant Breed" guns across the western sky featuring John Wayne. The weekend movies are closed over the holiday.

A last word; Temple Square in Salt Lake City is all lit up. It will make an interesting evening engagement.

Remember it's a shame to be poor and hired out; but it's more shame to be poor and not hired out. In spite of it all, happy—Christmas and New Year.

New Policies Defined For 'Murals

By Gordon Christiansen
Universe Sportswriter

Director of Intramurals Gary Palmer has announced a new policy for the postponement of Intramural games. The policy is designed to keep every gym or field in use and not empty because of postponement.

Match Cancelled

The scheduled wrestling match against Arizona today at 7:30 p.m. has been cancelled. The next match will be Jan. 9 against Montana State.

A team wishing to postpone a game for a legitimate reason must first contact Gary Palmer. No one else in the Intramurals Office has the authority to postpone a game. Palmer's office hours are 11 a.m. to 12 noon and 3 to 4 p.m. in 113-C Richards Bldg.

After receiving approval to postpone the game from Palmer, the team must contact the team they were to play and notify them of the postponement. Then the team will be given a card with names of four teams listed on it.

The postponing team will be required to call these teams and line up a game between two of them. After arranging the new game, Palmer must be contacted again and notified what teams are going to play in the game.

Failure to meet these requirements will result in a forfeit for the postponing team. By lining up two other teams to play in the postponed game, the Intramural facilities are kept at a maximum level of use.

Palmer also announced several other changes in the Intramural program. On Wednesday of each week, the schedule for games the following week will be posted.

BYU 58th Ward is the defending champion of the tournament. This year, BYU will be represented in the tournament by three men's teams and two women's teams.

Tournament directors are Raymond Callister, chairman of the LDS Indian Seminars; Du Shunway, LDS Indian Placement program; Rondo Harmon, LDS Indian Education and BYU's Athletic Dept. Chairman Floyd Millet, a member of the M.I. general board.

Student chairman of the tournament is Myron Accuteroop, a freshman from Randlett, Utah.

Defeated Ruggers Expect Off Competition In Hawaii

By Chuck Peterson
Verse Sportswriter

Will place its 6-0-1 rugby team on the line during the season break against the college of Hawaii on Dec. 21. The Tongan Vikings on Lake, Oahu, Hawaii.

be the first meeting between the two LDS schools and is to be a thriller. The college, never ranked out of top ten in the nation, has been beaten by a team from Hawaii. BYU hopes to upset it.

John Seggar has been one of the ruggers hard for this conditioning and stamina are very important in rugby. Seggar has been running 30 miles per day and the backs have been running 30-40 miles per day and the backs are preparing for the season. Seggar has also been in the squad through timed runs, developed by Dr. Phil

Allison of the Physical Education Dept.

Among the forwards making the trip is hooker Russ McAdams, former Western Athletic Conference wrestling champion who has made the switch from wrestling to rugby in fine fashion.

At the props are Bob Gunther, also a former BYU wrestler in his first year of rugby competition, and Chuck Peterson, four-year veteran at BYU.

At the locks will be Jack McTavish and Mike Dunn, both in their second year on the rugby squad.

The two break-aways will be filled from among Sid Frazier, former linebacker on the BYU football team who feels quite at home in this position; Gideon Maile, a transfer from the Church

College of Hawaii; and Bill Hubiak in his third year of rugby at BYU. The last man-down position will be filled by either Jeff Wight, in his first year or Craig Kimball, in his second year.

NEW YORK (AP)—President-elect Nixon acted Wednesday to dampen speculation about the future price of gold, assuring a spokesman to announce that he does not anticipate any shift from the current $35 an ounce.

That statement was supplied as an antidote to soaring gold prices in European markets after David M. Kennedy, the Chicago banker who will be Nixon's secretary of the Treasury, declined to pledge defense of the $35 rate.

It was a chain reaction inductive in the hazards facing an administration poised for office but yet in charge.

Nixon has instructed his Cabinet selectees to follow his own rule and make no policy statements until the Jan. 20 inauguration.

The dramatic jump in bullion—up 80 cents to $42 an ounce in London—followed the refusal of David M. Kennedy, Nixon's designated Treasury secretary, to commit the administration to the $35 price the United States has defended tenaciously since 1934.

The immediate reaction in Europe was that the secretary designate, as the London Times put it, had much to learn "about handling delicate issues at press conferences."

Officials of the Bank of England, noted for their tight-lipped treatment of newsmen, were reported puzzled why Kennedy held his Washington news conference at all before he assumed responsibility for the U.S. economy.

Bullion closed in London at a flat $42 against Tuesday's closing $41.20. This was the highest level since $42.10 June 12. It was the biggest day-to-day jump since Oct. 7 when it rose 90 cents over a weekend.

Gold rose 70 cents an ounce in Paris to $44.28. This compared with the record high July 5 of $45.36. In both Frankfurt and Zurich it was up 50 cents an ounce.

The flurry produced by Kennedy's comments sent Ronald L. Ziegler, Nixon's press aide, to newsmen with this statement:

"The subject of any change in the price of gold has not been discussed and we do not anticipate any change in the price of gold or in Mr. Nixon's position."

NINE SEMESTER HOURS OF HOME STUDY CREDIT MADE A BIG DIFFERENCE FOR RONALD C. HARWARD. HE'S TEACHING SEMINARY A YEAR AHEAD OF SCHEDULE

If you are anxious to graduate, you may have a decision to make. Ronald Harward did. . . . to spend an extra semester on campus picking up a few classes or to graduate early and go to work.

If time and money are important to you, investigate the possibilities of early graduation with Home Study courses. Designed especially for you, Home Study is a University department offering credit courses through correspondence study. During day or evening hours, on weekends or vacation breaks. . . . study when and where you wish.

With more than 4,000 students currently enrolled, records indicate that Home Study students do as well as classroom students.

The cost to you is less when you consider the expenses of spending more time on campus (tuition, general living expenses, loss of income from a full-time job, etc.)

If a few hours of Home Study will help, come in or give us a call. Free catalogs.
